Isn't it time we had fresh ideas and new leadership?

We've had the same Mayor for nearly two decades and whilst experience matters, when nothing changes, the risk isn't just stagnation, it's falling behind.

Cockburn deserves fresh leadership. Someone with energy, ideas, and drive. Someone who will seize opportunities and advocate fiercely for what our community needs. Someone who can lead our Council and our City, turning vision into reality.

I've spent eight years on Council listening to our community. People want a future-focused City that delivers real value by spending wisely to keep rates low, supports community and local businesses, and creates opportunities for young people.

And a Mayor who will deliver it.

Clubs across Cockburn have told me their biggest barriers are lighting upgrades and changerooms to accommodate women in sport. As Mayor, I will deliver the upgrades our sports clubs need so everyone has access to inclusive facilities.

AUKUS and the Henderson Defence Precinct is a once-in-a-generation opportunity. As Mayor, I will advocate for local businesses to be included in the Defence supply chain, and career pathways for young people into shipbuilding and advanced industries.

The Russell Road and Stock Road intersection is critical for Henderson. Without realignment, congestion will choke future growth. As Mayor, I will work with State and Federal partners to ensure this upgrade is delivered.

With attractions such as Adventure World, Cockburn Ice Arena, WA Wildlife, the Omeo Shipwreck, the future wave park, our wetlands and coastline, Cockburn should be Perth's favourite day-trip destination. As Mayor, I will deliver a tourism strategy that links these assets, boosts our economy, and supports local business.

Only one candidate in this election can deliver fresh ideas and bold leadership, balancing the needs of our community with keeping rates low. That's why I'm asking for your vote.

Cockburn needs fresh leadership - it's time to vote for change!
