Flewnt and Inkabee add hip-hop flavour to Cockburn Rotary Spring Fair and FROSH Youth Festival this October

Award-winning Noongar-Wongi hip-hop performers Flewnt and Inkabee will be the headline act at the City's 26th annual Cockburn Rotary Spring Fair on 26 October.

The father-and-son duo were quarter finalists on America's Got Talent (AGT) in 2024 but love nothing better than performing on Country for local devotees and is a highly anticipated feature of the event, which incorporates the FROSH Youth Festival.

Adopting a fun-filled Alice in Wonderland theme for 2025, the fair will be held at the magical Manningland (Manning Park) 11am-8pm featuring a huge selection of low-cost entertainment for the whole family.

It will incorporate the ever-popular sideshow alley, a full program of live stage entertainment, carnival rides (approx. $7 per ride depending on operator), market stalls, food trucks and a light and fire show under the night sky.

Josh Eggington became renowned as rapper Flewnt when his single Kya Kyana won the West Australian Music (WAM) Song of the year in 2018. His follow-up track Black Boy with Emily Wurramara won the 2019 NAIDOC Award for best song and hip-hop song.

Inkabee rose to fame as an 11-year-old just a couple of years ago with his track Beat the Odds earning two WAM award nominations.

Their father-and-son track We Dat Good garnered the attention of AGT and they have since performed at major Australian events and toured in Canada and the US. You can see their performance on stage at the fair between 6-7pm.

The FROSH Youth Festival has become a much-loved highlight of the fair. Cockburn Youth Advisory Collective has worked hard to develop a host of free activities for young people including the Ricochet Circus tent, giant games, glitter tattoos and a maze.

The fair is the Rotary club's major annual fundraising event, with up to $18,000 in proceeds donated to projects in the Cockburn community, along with well-known national and international Rotary programs.

Parking is by gold coin entry, with proceeds donated to Cockburn Rotary Club.
