Innovate Reconciliation Action Plan

December 2023 – December 2025

Acknowledgement of Country

Cockburn Nyungar moort Beeliar boodja-k kaadadjiny. Koora, yeyi, benang baalap nidja boodja-k kaaradjiny. Ngalak kaadatj dayin boodja, kep wer malayin. Ngalak kaditj boodjar kep wer kaadidjiny kalyakool yoodaniny, wer koora wer yeyi ngalak Birdiya koota-djinanginy.

City of Cockburn acknowledges the Nyungar people of Beeliar Boodja. Long ago, now and in the future, they care for Country. We acknowledge a continuing connection to land, waters and culture and pay our respects to Elders, past and present.

Whadjuk is one of the Nyungar groups occupying the southwest of Western Australia. Beeliar is one of the clans of the Whadjuk group of Nyungar, with Beeliar Nyungar meaning river people. What we know today as City of Cockburn is Beeliar Boodja (Beeliar Country).

Acknowledgement of front cover artist, Kathleen Sherie

My name is Kathleen Sherie. I grew up on Beeliar Boodja and have connection to Minang/Goreng Country in the south of southwest Western Australian, through my grandmother.

The story of my painting:

Beeliar Boodja is the home of the yaakan/yakkin (long neck turtle). The circles represent the 24 suburbs in the Cockburn area. The shades of blue represent the land and lake or swamp, Boodja and pinjar/binger. The sitting people symbols are the respected Elders of the community, past and present.

Our Vision for Reconciliation

Nidja City Cockburn baal djinang dandjoo-koorl moort-al warn moorditj kenyak yambo boola-boola dudjarak koordoodjinyal wer kaadadjiny. Nyungar language translation by Reverend Sealin Garlett (dec.) and Charmaine Bennell.

The City of Cockburn's vision for reconciliation is to create an inclusive community with strong relationships across cultures based on mutual respect and understanding.

Our actions will contribute to the goal of closing the gap between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and other Australians with respect to equitable access to services, inclusion in decision making and to employment and business opportunities, so that all people can be valued and participate fully in the Cockburn community.

Message from the Mayor

Reconciliation Action Plans (RAPs) provide a framework with actions, timeframes and requirements to report as a means of turning good intentions into measurable actions. They enable organisations to take meaningful action to progress reconciliation, increase equity, and listen to First Nations voices.

The City of Cockburn has had three RAPs: 2011-2013, 2013-2016 and 2018-2021. The most recent was a 'Stretch' RAP which sets targets for employment, engaging with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander businesses and other actions. We're now moving to the next phase and have engaged with our community to produce an Innovate RAP which allows the City time to reflect on the state of reconciliation work across Cockburn and within our local government organisation, and set new goals as required.

As we celebrate National Reconciliation Week, acknowledge Sorry Day, and extend our shared journey through various activities during NAIDOC Week there continues to be much more that we are able to do to as a community to 'Close the Gap' in terms of the health and life expectancy of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and other significant gaps that remain as a challenge to us all.

Connectivity with Elders and the deliberations of our Aboriginal Reference Group are important elements in driving the process of knowledge sharing and providing guidance and recommendations to our Council on the many aspects of the RAP and other related activities. In particular, I express special thanks to Reverend Mitchell Garlett for following in the footsteps of his father and providing guidance into the development of the City's Reconciliation Action Plan.

The City continues with the planning of the Aboriginal Cultural and Visitors Centre in Bibra Lake and investment in the education of Elected Members and staff in cultural competency training, so important to reflect our shared values, increasing our knowledge of Nyungar heritage, culture and language.

The City looks forward to working in partnership with our community over the next two years to take the next steps in our commitment to reconciliation by building on our successes from our previous Reconciliation Action Plans.

His Worship the Mayor
Logan K. Howlett, JP

Statement from Reconciliation Australia CEO

Since 2006, RAPs have provided a framework for organisations to leverage their structures and diverse spheres of influence to support the national reconciliation movement.

With over 2.3 million people now either working or studying in an organisation with a RAP, the program's potential for impact is greater than ever. The City of Cockburn continues to be part of a strong network of more than 1,100 corporate, government, and not-for-profit organisations that have taken goodwill and transformed it into action.

The four RAP types — Reflect, Innovate, Stretch and Elevate — allow RAP partners to continuously strengthen reconciliation commitments and constantly strive to apply learnings in new ways.

An Innovate RAP is a crucial and rewarding period in an organisation's reconciliation journey. It is a time to build the strong foundations and relationships that ensure sustainable, thoughtful, and impactful RAP outcomes into the future.

An integral part of building these foundations is reflecting on and cataloguing the successes and challenges of previous RAPs. Learnings gained through effort and innovation are invaluable resources that City of Cockburn will continuously draw upon to create RAP commitments rooted in experience and maturity.

These learnings extend to the City of Cockburn the lens of reconciliation to better understand its core business, sphere of influence, and diverse community of staff and stakeholders.

The RAP program's emphasis on relationships, respect, and opportunities gives organisations a framework from which to foster connections with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples rooted in mutual collaboration and trust.

This Innovate RAP is an opportunity for City of Cockburn to strengthen these relationships, gain crucial experience, and nurture connections that will become the lifeblood of its future RAP commitments. By enabling and empowering staff to contribute to this process, City of Cockburn will ensure shared and cooperative success in the long-term.

Gaining experience and reflecting on pertinent learnings will ensure the sustainability of City of Cockburn's future RAPs and reconciliation initiatives, providing meaningful impact toward Australia's reconciliation journey.

Congratulations City of Cockburn on your Innovate RAP and I look forward to following your ongoing reconciliation journey.

Karen Mundine, Chief Executive Officer
Reconciliation Australia

Our RAP Journey

Our first defined steps towards reconciliation began in 2002 with the establishment of the City's Aboriginal Reference Group (ARG), which has met regularly since then. An Aboriginal Community Development Officer role was initiated in 2003 and there are now two such roles in place. We became the first Perth metropolitan area local government to have a RAP approved in 2011.

The City has been on a journey towards reconciliation for over 20 years, has developed and implemented three RAPs during that time, and this is the fourth RAP.

Reconciliation is especially important to us as a local government organisation, working with and representing our local community in all its diversity. We want to ensure inclusion in local government life, and respectful and genuine relationships with the Whadjuk Nyungar people as the First People of this region. Working towards reconciliation as an ongoing journey is the job of non-Indigenous people. We can hope to do this alongside First Nations people, based on strong relationships, as there is so much for us to learn and understand.

The City has undertaken a focus on Anti-Racism since 2020, with the development and delivery of the 'Let's Talk About Racism' workshop series to staff, in collaboration with a neighbouring local government, City of Melville. These workshops include First Nations staff and non-Indigenous staff together, with more than seven series (28 workshops) delivered between 2020 and 2023 to more than 400 staff in total. Alongside this training, a 'Discrimination, Harassment and Bullying' Policy (ECM 11385354) was developed and adopted as of February 14, 2023.

The City has decided to undertake an Innovate RAP for the next period 2023-2025. There has been a significant degree of change in the organisation over the past two years, along with Covid in the time prior. We will use this two-year timeframe to consolidate the work we have completed and implement a range of new and exciting initiatives. One of our key goals is to effectively embed our reconciliation work right throughout the organisation, in all areas, and this will be our focus for the time ahead.

The overall RAP Champion for the organisation will be the CEO.

The City has also now appointed a dedicated part time Reconciliation Lead role.

The internal RAP Steering Group (RSG) will meet quarterly. The RSG includes the business areas below, with six First Nations people included as members:

- Reconciliation Lead
- Sustainability and Environment
- Culture and Transformation
- Library and Cultural Services
- Strategic Planning
- Strategy and Integrated Planning
- Community Development
- Aboriginal Cultural and Visitor Centre Manager (First Nations)
- People Experience (HR)
- Community Development and Services
- Youth Services
- First Nations Community Development x 2 (First Nations)
- Finance
- Seniors Centre
- Strategic Procurement
- Advocacy and Engagement
- Media and Communications
- Property and Assets
- Recreation Infrastructure and Services
- Operations and Maintenance
- Community Safety
- Library Officer (First Nations)
- City of Cockburn Aboriginal Reference Group representatives (First Nations).

The City of Cockburn has had an Aboriginal Reference Group (ARG) in place continuously since 2002. Two Elected Members also attend, unless it is a special meeting for a specific reason, the First Nations Community Development staff attend and one or two non-Indigenous staff. The ARG is chaired by one of the Reference Group's First Nations members, with a Deputy Chair also being a First Nations member.

The ARG and the RAP Steering Group are closely aligned, with two senior staff representatives from the RAP Steering Group (one First Nations, one non-Indigenous) attending each of the ARG meetings and acting as a point of liaison and engagement between the two groups. The City's Reconciliation Lead staff member will attend an ARG meeting at least twice per year to formally report on the RAP.

Representatives from the ARG are invited to attend the four annual RAP Steering Group meetings to build and strengthen working relationships between the two and provide input into the RAP implementation. The City's RAP is a standing item on the ARG agenda, with a particular focus on it during its review and renewal. A consultation session was undertaken with the ARG in 2022 by Kambarang Consultancy, a local Aboriginal-owned business who are delivering the community engagement for the RAP. Regular updates, including achievements and challenges, will be discussed with the ARG throughout the implementation of the new RAP.

- ✓ An Acknowledgement of Country is included in the official format of all Ordinary Council Meetings and Special Council Meetings.
- ✓ The City's Social Procurement Guideline was developed with a focus on increasing engagement with Aboriginal majority-owned businesses.
- ✓ An Equal Employment Opportunity Management Plan was developed in 2016 which included recruitment and retention strategies aimed at Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander staff.

RAP 2018 – 2021 Key Achievements

- ✓ Providing guidance on First Nations cultural protocols for staff at the City as well as Cockburn residents via the City's webpage. A new dedicated landing page on the City's website has been developed for Reconciliation covering our Vision for Reconciliation; the RAP and regular updates on its implementation, Reconciliation activities and events, how to get involved and a Resources page. This will be regularly reviewed and updated.
- ✓ Progressing the Aboriginal Cultural and Visitors Centre located in bushland opposite the Bibra Lake wetlands. The City's Aboriginal Reference Group (ARG) endorsed the Aboriginal Cultural and Visitors Centre's detailed design, and an Aboriginal Advisory Group was formed to provide ongoing cultural guidance. The Centre's design is inspired by the area's native Southwestern snake-necked turtle, making it a unique attraction in metropolitan Perth. It will also provide employment and small business opportunities for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people through the creation of dedicated First Nations staff positions and the delivery of cultural experiences and walks, art and craft, bushtucker, catering and as a gathering place for community.

The City has worked closely with the ARG, the wider First Nations community and the architect to ensure the design will provide cultural and environmental benefits. A reworked design was endorsed by Council on 9 December 2021. The Centre will be a place of recognition and learning about Nyungar culture, language, music, art and dance, with educational programs that fit the school curriculum; Cultural Awareness training; Reconciliation activities and celebrations; and a Visitors Information Centre, retail shop and cafe. Construction of the Aboriginal Cultural and Visitors Centre is anticipated to commence in 2024.

- ✓ Cultural Competency training identified for all staff and for those areas where it should be mandatory (most people). This includes an online introductory training, a more general Cultural Education training delivered by First Nations providers, and the 'Let's Talk about Racism' workshops on addressing racism and building a network of Allies to First Nations people.
- ✓ Nyungar language incorporated into interpretive signage installed across the City in multiple parks including Manning Park, Bibra Lake, Banksia Eucalypt Woodland Reserve, Kurrajong Reserve and at C.Y. O'Connor beach. Meeting rooms at the City Administration and Operations Centre now have Nyungar names.
- ✓ 'Let's Talk about Racism' cultural competency training developed by staff and delivered as a collaborative project with City of Melville to staff and invited guests from other local governments and organisations. The series of four workshops was initially run as a pilot program in July 2020 with First Nations staff and non-Indigenous staff together in attendance and in the facilitator role. The key goal of the training is to educate and encourage a personal and professional journey of self-reflection as a means of building a cohort of Allies to First Nations staff and peoples. Each series comprises 12 hours of training over four workshops, with now more than seven series (28 workshops) delivered to about 400 staff across both local governments. The content of each workshop includes truth-telling Panels, experiential activities, Listening Partnerships, information and sharing of stories. The impact has proved to be powerful, personal and effective in bringing about change in the area of addressing the ongoing challenges of racism, on both a personal and organisational level. This training has been highlighted in articles in the LG (local government) Focus journal May 2021 and in the 2021 RAP Impact Report of Reconciliation Australia.

- ✓ Growth in National Reconciliation Week events each year, including Staff Forums, Staff and Community breakfast with Reconciliation WA, Run for Reconciliation and Annual Flag Raising events.
- ✓ Working with schools to support and share progress amongst staff developing their Narragunnawali Reconciliation Action Plan. The City has held two School RAP Forums in response to an ongoing keen level of interest in reconciliation from schools across the Cockburn region. Seven schools attended the Forum in 2022, with one presenting on their Narragunnawali RAP journey, along with a presentation from Reconciliation WA. It is planned for this to be an annual Forum as a means of connecting schools who are developing RAPs or wanting to. Schools are also strongly interested in National Reconciliation Week (NRW) activities provided by the City, with one school undertaking a 12 km return 'Reconciliation walk' with its older students from the school to the City Administration for the annual flag-raising and opening of NRW. Long Daycare Centres which have developed a RAP also attend the event with some of the children in their care. First Nations Community Development staff provide information to schools regularly in regard to Welcome to Country providers and Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander businesses. In addition, for ten years the City has offered School Graduation Awards to a commended First Nations student in each of the primary and secondary schools, to the value of $2,000 in total across all schools.
- ✓ Growth in procurement of First Nations businesses with expenditure of $280,000 across one year and 22 providers on the system.
- ✓ Acknowledgement of Country in both Nyungar and English on all City websites and as an email footer for all staff.
- ✓ First Nations employment at the City has increased to 1.6 per cent.

RAP 2018 – 2021 Learnings and Challenges

- The City is ambitious in its goals for Reconciliation and has taken on some large projects. One of these is the Aboriginal Cultural and Visitors Centre which has been in development for some years and is close to coming to fruition. The dedicated work on this project continues. The other is the 'Let's Talk about Racism' series of workshops which is unique to the partnership between the Cities of Cockburn and Melville, and highly regarded across the local government and community services sector. This has allowed our two local governments to take a deep dive into anti-racism work over a two and-a-half year period with many learnings and revisions along the way, especially as we work hand-in-hand with First Nations staff throughout the planning and delivery. Series seven now looks a bit different to series one, based on trial and error and much discussion and input from First Nations as well as non-Indigenous staff. The CEOs and Executive of each LGA are demonstrating a strong and ongoing commitment to this important work.
- It has been a challenge to effectively embed accountability and ownership of the RAP across the organisation. This has left the workload and cultural load in the Community Development work area rather than taken up by the diverse areas of the whole organisation. The strengthening of reconciliation across the organisation is reliant on many staff and work areas seeing the benefits and having a vested interest in reconciliation. This will be achieved through the development and implementation of several key documents:
 - Cultural Learning Strategy to cover all employees and Elected Members and ensure a stronger level of organizational cultural competency
 - Communications Plan to ensure education and promotion of the RAP and broader reconciliation perspectives and learnings to all staff
 - Community Engagement Framework to ensure stronger relationships with First Nations stakeholders across a growing number of projects and initiatives, and strategies to include First Nations voices from the outset and in partnership where possible.
- There is identified keen interest in reconciliation and the City's RAP from various parts of the Cockburn community. This was highlighted during presentations to Residents' Groups, meetings with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander residents, survey responses throughout the RAP consultation process and direct individual contact from Cockburn residents. The RAP community engagement process also reflected pockets of strong feelings against the efforts of reconciliation and questioning the benefits of RAPs. These attitudes and perceptions have come to the fore, for example when a Mosque was built at a City location, and again throughout the Referendum process. There is a need for strategies to educate and promote the City's ongoing commitment to reconciliation and to offer more targeted information and workshops to residents and community stakeholders. Strategies will be identified through the development of a Communications Plan to cover the wider local government area.
