

Reducing Household Waste – Why reducing waste is important to me

I say well how would you like it if you were an animal and you got hurt or you were a plant and you got and something happened to you because of a lot of rubbish and I don't think you would like it would you. I think the best part about doing this is probably because it just, it helps everybody and it just it helps a lot of things and animals and people and a lot about the environment as well.

For more information in this series of videos visit:

www.cockburn.wa.gov.au/WasteEducation